SOON DISPOSED OF HIS INHERITANCE

York Springs Man Plays Millionaire for a day. Buys Liquor and Engages in Horse Trading.

Trading horses, buying rum and otherwise celebrating over a bit of good fortune, Joseph DeCoursey Hall, of York Springs, Adams County's "millionaire for a day", has suddenly found himself bankrupt and without funds.

Hall is one of York Springs' most prominent residents—prominent from the standpoint of being well known—and his latest escapade has brought him even more of this publicity. He was born in England about 54 years ago—by birth and education a gentleman. While an undergraduate at Oxford University he became imbued with the wanderlust and in his travels since that time has visited many countries, Australia, South Africa, South America and other lands being in the line of his travels.

He finally came to this section and established his residence at York Springs traveling from there through this and Cumberland counties selling little rustic stands and photograph holders to afford him the necessities of life.

Recently a relative in England died and he received as his legacy seventy pounds, or about $350. Now this Joseph DeCoursey Hall is a most likeable person, well educated, and a delightful conversationalist so that it was but a short time before his acquaintances knew of his good fortune.

They immediately set out to see whether Hall could live like a millionaire for just a few hours and it was a few moments until all were enjoying his liberality and taking John Barleycorn along to provide the chief form of celebration. Some horse traders heard of the loose money which appeared and soon had sold Hall one of their animals. Hall took to horse trading for a pastime and in almost less time than the narrative requires, the former Englishman was left with a mere semblance of the $350.

Fortunately Hall's disposition was apparently well known by the parties in charge of the estate from which he received the legacy and sufficient principal was withheld to allow a weekly payment of $5 during the remainder of his life. He is accordingly saved the necessity of having to work for his livelihood and will be able to spend the rest of his days in rest, recreation and happiness.

ANOTHER IDEA FOR CELEBRATION

Confederate Captain would have Union and Confederate Veterans Form Two Lines and Shake Hands.

Captain R. W. Douthat, one of Pickett's captains who appeared at the Gettysburg Chautauqua in 1911, is one of the many who advance various schemes for the battle anniversary celebration this summer. He has contributed this as his idea of a fitting manner of observing the semi-centennial of the battle:

"Have the veterans who come to Gettysburg line up opposite each other, Confederates on one side and Union soldiers on the other, say not over twenty feet apart, and then have a patrotic speech of ten minutes length delivered by a Confederate and another of the same length delivered by a Union soldier—by men whose lives have proven them worthy and well qualified for the duty.

"Then, after the speeches, let the Confederate at one end of the line and the Union soldier at the other end give the same command, 'Forward, Guide Right, March!' and when the two lines get near enough, let them give the command, 'Halt!' and then every one give his opponent a hearty handshake, and if possible utter the words, 'I forgive' (I can, 'without any mental reservation or secret evasion of mind'). Then let the welkin ring with loud huzzahs from all the multitude; and after this, while the bands play The Star Spangled Banner, let the veterans go to their quarters.

"This would make the grandest Fourth of July celebration our country has ever known and stamp the veterans as being braver on the Fourth of July 1913 than they were when shot and shell and grape and canister swept the great field on July 3, 1863, and all the people would return to their homes with higher conceptions of American soldiery and greater love for the Fatherland.

"Yes, and the old soldiers having uttered the words 'I forgive' would retire on that evening with a greater soul peace than ever before had flooded their hearts. Even Heaven itself would seem to hover over such a scene, and God's blessing follow the nation that had such patriotism enshrined in the hearts of her people."

Captain Douthat apparently does not take into account the fact that 40,000 veterans are expected here in July, that if they were arranged in two lines and each man given a space of twenty-four inches the double line would extend for almost eight miles and there would not be very great probability of the ten minute speeches being heard at both ends.

Captain Douthat is the author of a scheme for a monument to both the North and South. He would have a solid base typify the Union before the war, two columns to show it divided during the war and a capstone to indicate its unity since then.

100 DAYS FOR KILLING DEER

Heavy Sentence for Killing Deer out of Season. South Mountain Scene of Shooting This Week.

One hundred dollars fine or one hundred days in jail was the sentence imposed upon Charles C. Welsh on Thursday, for having killed a deer out of season. Welsh was unable to pay the fine and was committed to jail. The shooting of the deer took place on South Mountain and the arrest was made by State police.

The hearing was held before Justice Potter, in Waynesboro, Thursday. Sergeant H. K. Merryfield was the first witness to testify. He said that, acting upon information he had received, he went to the Welsh place near Tomstown, accompanied by Adam Strousner and Percy Rock, and at a spot in Welsh's back yard, pointed out by Rock, he exhumed the hide, head and feet of a deer.

The right side of the head was badly mangled and contained a number of shot, indicating that the weapon used was a shot gun. The head and hide were covered with fresh blood, showing that it had been buried only a short time. The hide and feet were produced at the hearing. He then told of arresting Welsh.

Private Campbell, who accompanied Sergeant Merryfield testified that he saw the latter dig up the hide in Welsh's back yard. Also that he found a saw at the house with fresh blood upon it and a shot gun, which, according to the odor, had been fired recently.

Adam Strausner, a man living on an adjoining property to the Welsh place, said that Tuesday morning he was working in a field when he heard the report of a gun in a nearby woods. Approaching the edge of the woods, he saw Welsh emerge with a shot gun under his arm and headed toward his home. He then went into the woods and by the aid of blood spots he traced his way to a stack of leaves. These he brushed aside and discovered a deer dead, but still warm. He then retraced his steps and returned home.

Percy Rock testified that when he learned that Welsh shot a deer he concealed himself behind a stump in the rear of the Welsh place Tuesday morning and saw Welsh come out of his cellar with the deer hide and head and bury them in his back yard.

Welsh, the defendant, was then heard. He denied having killed the deer, saying that he had been working around the house all morning, planting potatoes and building a dog cave. Did not bury hide and did not know it was there. He further stated that Adam Strausner and Rock did not like him because he had killed one of their dogs while running a deer a few weeks ago, and for reporting the matter to Squire Newman.

MAROONED DAYTON CITIZENS ARE SAFE

Police Chief Goes Through City.

OTHER TOWNS STRICKEN

1000 More Drowned at Columbus and Chillicothe.

THE WATERS ARE RECEDING

The Wire Service Is Paralyzed and Fate of Many Towns in Ohio Is Not Yet Known—Conditions in Indiana the Same—Cloudbursts and Flood in Pennsylvania.

The 70,000 citizens of Dayton, O., who have been marooned since the first day of the flood, are safe, according to the chief of police of that city, who has been directing rescue work. He believes that outside of North Dayton the dead will not exceed 200, but it is feared there has been heavy loss of life in the suburbs. Fire started in the ruins again, but no word as to the loss of life in the flames has been received.

From 600 to 1000 are dead in Columbus, on the west side.

It is said over 150 are dead at Zanesville, O., where half the city is inundated.

The Scioto river, from Columbus to the Ohio river, 100 miles south, is a raging flood. Fifty miles south of Columbus is Chillicothe, the first capital of the state. It is under water. Twenty-five are dead and many more are missing.

The situation in Indiana is about the same. Cooler weather has added to the suffering in both states.

Telegraph service throughout Ohio and Indiana is almost annihilated for the time, not a wire being available on the lines of either of the big companies. News is sent out over telephones or by couriers to the nearest telegraph office outside the flooded district. Conditions are reported the worst in the history of telegraphy. Train service is equally bad and will remain so for several days at least.

Vigorous measures have been taken by the national government in the direction of relief and the precautions against pestilence. By direction of the president, Lindley M. Garrison, secretary of war, left to survey the situation in Ohio. He went by special train, accompanied by Major General Leonard M. Wood and several other officials.

Flood conditions in western Pennsylvania continue serious, but no further loss of life is reported. Small tornadoes and heavy rains swept over Delaware and Maryland, overthrowing dwellings, flooding rivers and making huge reservoirs a menace to valley inhabitants.

Throughout the Pennsylvania coal regions the mines are flooded. At Shenandoah miners were forced to flee before the onrushing waters. The city of Scranton was visited by a veritable cloudburst, and couriers were sent to warn the people of the low lands, as fears were entertained that the dams at the headwaters of the Lackawanna river would give way.

Marooned in Dayton Are Safe.

Dayton, O., March 28.—All but a few of those hundreds of persons who have been marooned in the downtown section of flooded Dayton since Tuesday morning are safe.

Chief of Police J. N. Allaback, himself marooned, who has been directing the rescue work, gave the first information that he had nineteen bodies in his morgue and orders to care for sixty more as soon as possible.

He says that he estimates the number of dead in the United Brethren church on the west side at 200. From 100 to 150 bodies, he says, are lying partly submerged in Avondale avenue. About 200 more, according to Mr. Osman, are lying in West Park avenue.

Between 600 and 1000 persons lost their lives in the flooded west side according to representatives of the Columbus Dispatch, who got into communication with the newspaper office from the previously isolated section as soon as communication was re-established.

No word has been heard from Mayor Phillips. The chief of police had been unable to get near the Phillips house and did not know whether the mayor would be found dead or alive.

North of Burns avenue as far as Fourth street the water was found to be from three to six feet deep.

Beyond Fourth street the water had receded to make it possible in many places to proceed on foot. From Fourth street to the Big Miami river relief work was taken up by a committee headed by Chief Allaback. All of the grocery stores were commandeered and, although in most cases the goods were covered with water, yet sufficient supplies were found to prevent great suffering among those in the interior dry strip.

25 Dead at Chillicothe, O.

Columbus, O., March 28.—Twenty-five persons were drowned, many more are missing and great property damage was wrought by the Scioto river floods at Chillicothe, which has been cut off from all communication, according to the statement by G. W. C. Perry, editor of the Chillicothe Gazette, over the long distance telephone.

Mr. Perry said that while many persons were missing, the known death list will not exceed twenty-five persons. A great part of Chillicothe is under water.

While there may be many deaths in individual homes, which have been without food or drink, there was no place but the workhouse where any considerable number of people were held without food. None had enough, but no case approaching actual starvation was found.

Knowledge that the death list is likely to prove low in the downtown section gave rise to a hope that even in North Dayton, about which nearly all hope had been abandoned, there might be fewer deaths than anticipated.

The progress of the first canoe into the water-bound district was greeted by appeals for bread and water. In nearly every house left standing wistful faces were to be seen pressed against window panes. All of these were asked whether there had been any deaths, and with only a few exceptions all replied that there had not.

Although heartened by news from the flood zone's interior, Governor Cox's secretary, Mr. Burba, was scarcely able to credit the assertion. From his own investigation of the southern district he was unable to believe that the death list would be under 1500.

"There are 10,000 unaccounted for on this side of the river," he said, "and if all but 200 of these are found it will be the greatest miracle of the time."

It was impossible to approach within several blocks of the fire zone, even in the canoe, but it is possible that the fire has been confined to the blocks beyond Jefferson and Third streets.

300 Safe in Hotel.

The 300 guests of the Algonquin hotel have been kept comfortable except for the continuous dread that the fire would spread to them. The water has reached the second floor, but all supplies had been moved to places of safety and those in the hotel experienced little discomfort.

Two hundred women and babies found refuge in a paint factory in North Dayton, where it is believed they have found sufficient food to keep them from acute suffering. An effort is to be made at once to rescue them.

The suburb of Riverdale, up to Helena street, has been penetrated by the downtown relief commission and conditions found much similar to those in the southern suburbs. Every one has been crowded to the second floor or roofs of their homes, but few of the more stable dwellings were washed away. North of Helena street has not been reached, but it is believed the conditions there will prove as bad as had been feared.

Conditions in Brief.

The following is a tabulated estimate of conditions:

Dead—Accurate estimate impossible.

Seventy thousand persons marooned. Fifteen thousand residences submerged.

One hundred and twenty miles of streets inundated.

Five thousand persons provided for in rescue stations.

Five hundred horses killed.

One thousand automobiles damaged.

There were tentative figures of damage that placed Dayton's pecuniary loss at $25,000,000, estimated by persons who had explored part of the flood area.

Governor Cox ordered that no more sightseers be permitted in Dayton, and when Colonel Catrow attempted to have railroad coaches of an arriving train vacated many of the passengers showed fight and refused to leave. Orders were given the trainmen to cut off the two rear coaches and the were left standing on the track.

Parts of Main street are impassable because of debris. At several points it comprised outbuildings that had struck more stable buildings and been dashed to pieces.

Recover Bodies in Columbus.

Columbus, O., March 28.—First direct communication was established with the west side of Columbus when Undertaker Osman said over the telephone that he had nineteen bodies in his morgue and orders to care for sixty more as soon as possible.

He says that he estimates the number of dead in the United Brethren church on the west side at 200. From 100 to 150 bodies, he says, are lying partly submerged in Avondale avenue. About 200 more, according to Mr. Osman, are lying in West Park avenue.

150 DEAD AT ZANESVILLE

Half the City Is Inundated and Big Warehouses Are Burning.

Zanesville, O., March 28.—Chaos and mate terror holds sway in this city. The mad, swirling waters of the Muskingum river are mounting higher and higher on the sides of the hills on which lies the town, until it has now reached Fifth avenue and Main street, the center of the business section.

Half the city is inundated, the flood varying in depth from one to fifteen feet. Over 150 lives have been sacrificed in the city proper, while the valley below has given up a greater toll. Over 600 buildings have been torn off their foundations and swept away by the mill race currents, while many other buildings have collapsed and been thrown against those still holding. To add to the fear of the terror-stricken inhabitants fire now menaces the town and starvation also threatens them.

A conservative estimate of the property loss in Zanesville alone would be $8,000,000. Not a wheel in the city is moving. The light and heating plants are all under water, and it is feared that the supply can last but a short time, owing to the breaks of the line, which allows the pipes to fill with water.

Four large warehouses in Putnam, a southern section of the city, are burning fiercely. The fire ignited from the lime stored in the buildings coming in contact with the water. Other buildings in the vicinity will likely soon be in flames, as a high wind is sweeping over the city, accompanied by a driving snowstorm. Nothing can be done to check the flames, as the buildings burning are surrounded by thirteen feet of water.

Many corpses have been seen floating in the waters, but no concerted effort has been made to recover them up to the present time. In the lower part of the city, where the rush of the water is strongest and the depth the greatest, the cry was: "Every man for himself."

Indescribable scenes were witnessed by those who were fortunate enough to escape with their lives to the hillsides in safety. Harrowing tales are told of mothers and fathers fighting to save their children from the merciless maw of the turbulent waters.

250 Dead at Hamilton.

Hamilton, O., March 28.—Ten bodies were uncovered from the flood ruins of this city in the first hour of the search. Figuring on this average, it is believed no less than 250 persons lost their lives here. The Lakeview hotel in the residential portion of the town, collapsed. It is said that fifty people had taken refuge there earlier in the day. As the water recedes the damage to property appears to increase. The town is under martial law.

Terre Haute Paralyzed.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 28.—Light and transportation facilities are paralyzed in this city. The stage of the river is at thirty-one feet, six inches, and business is at a standstill. The electric light plant has just closed and there are 4000 persons homeless as the result of the flood, which is steadily spreading.

Six Dead at Akron, O.

Akron, O., March 28.—A heavy rain has increased the suffering among the flood victims. Two hundred families are homeless. Six persons are reported dead. Fortunately for Akron and Garrettsville, the dam near Willow creek burst in such a way that the canal carried off most of the overflow.

If you suffer from Rheumatism and don't read this advice, then the terrible disease must have robbed you of your power to be fair to yourself. Read it: "I, John Barnhorst, Justice of the Peace of McLean Township, Ft. Loramie, Ohio, do certify that after treatment by three doctors without result, I have been cured of a very bad case of Rheumatism by using two bottles of RHEUMA. It is now two years since I used this remedy, and am still as well as ever. Previous to using RHEUMA I was a cripple, walking with crutches, and I feel it my duty to let other sufferers from Rheumatism know what it will do. The result seems almost miraculous to me. TENER APPEALS FOR AID

Calls on Pennsylvanians to Quickly Assist Flood Victims.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 28.—Governor Tener issued the following proclamation, appealing to Pennsylvanians to assist the Ohio flood sufferers: "The people of our sister state of Ohio have been overwhelmed by storms and floods of unprecedented magnitude, causing appalling loss of life and destruction of homes and property. The destitution and distress call for the prompt response which is characteristic of our people."

"Now, therefore, I, John K. Tener, governor of the commonwealth, do earnestly appeal to the citizens of Pennsylvania to extend to these stricken people generous contributions and assistance as the expression of the deep sympathy we feel."

This appeal was issued after Governor Tener had been assured by Governor Cox, of Ohio, that reports of great loss of life, general disaster and destitution in several sections of Ohio were not exaggerated.

SPANISH KING INJURED

Alfonso Hurt by Pony's Fall in Game of Polo.

Madrid, March 28.—King Alfonso while engaged in playing polo fell from his pony.

No bones were broken, but it was feared he might have been injured internally.

The accident occurred just as the game began. The king was cantering across the field to reach his position when his pony fell.

His majesty was caught with one leg under the animal. He extricated himself without help and lighted a cigarette. He suffered, however, some severe bruises.

SHERMAN ELECTED SENATOR

Republican Chosen For Short Term in Illinois.

Springfield, Ill., March 28.—Following immediately upon the breaking of the deadlock in the Illinois legislature and the election of James Hamilton Lewis, Democrat, to the full term of six years in the United States senate, the secondary deadlock broke and Lawrence W. Sherman, Republican, was elected for the short term.

Sherman will fill the vacancy caused by the ousting of William Lorimer from the senate. His term will expire March 3, 1915. Lewis was the Democratic primary choice for senator and Sherman was similarly endorsed by the Republicans.

CLOUDBURST IN PENNA.

Mine Regions Visited by Heavy Down-pour and Rivers Overflow Banks. Shenandoah, Pa., March 28.—This vicinity was visited by another cloudburst and tornado. The river overflowed its banks and several mines were compelled to shut down.

Water surrounded the Frisbie and the Biles silk mills in Dickson City and the girls were marooned for the night. Six hundred people living on "Hungarian Flats," in the northern end of the city, became panic-stricken when water broke through the streets and taking their cattle and household goods they fled to the hills at Thorp.

Beaver River Floods Valley.

Beaver Falls, Pa., March 28.—The Beaver river rose and the entire valley from the Ohio river north was flooded. The towns of New Brighton, Fallston and Beaver Falls suffered the most, and there was some damage at Rochester. Electric light and power plants are out of commission and the gas was shut off. No loss of life was reported.

Distance of Planets.

The distance of the sun and planets from the earth may best be perceived by the following fact: A train of cars going at a mile a minute would reach the moon in 150 days, Venus in fifty years, Mars in seventy-six years, Mercury in 110 years, the sun in 175 years, Jupiter in 740 years, Saturn in 1,470 years, Uranus in 3,190 years, Neptune in 5,865 years. To reach the nearest fixed star our train, steadily maintaining its mile a minute speed, would require about 40,000,000 years. You may rely upon the general accuracy of the above schedule.—New York American.

LOOTERS CAUGHT WORKING IN RUINS

West Indianapolis Placed Under Martial Law.

200 TO 500 ARE DEAD

Governor of Indiana Seeks to Check Rise in Food Prices—Relief Parties Reach Survivors With Supplies.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 28.—Governor Ralston declared West Indianapolis under martial law. Vandals started to rob and pillage. A company of state troops was rushed into the district and a number of arrests were made.

That all of Indianapolis might be under martial law was strongly intimated by Governor Ralston, when he learned that prices on all foodstuffs had been increased by the commission merchants. The price of eggs has been advanced ten cents, with correspondingly higher prices on other commodities.

Governor Ralston was very indignant, but declined to discuss the subject further until he completed an investigation. Before the supply of bread available on the West Side had been exhausted loaves were selling at 20 cents each. The supply of meat has been exhausted.

That section of Indianapolis lying west of the river is the poorest in the city. The supply of meat, eggs, milk, coffee, bread and butter was practically exhausted. Little save canned goods remained on the shelves of the grocers. This section was absolutely without communication with the business section of the city.

Food and provisions have reached Indianapolis, but the consignments were meager, owing to the fact that no railroads can approach this section and all supplies must be brought in by rowboat.

The flood situation in Indiana was slightly improved. Relief parties, carrying food, medicines, clothing and other supplies, are reaching the stricken sections and allaying the suffering of the thousands who have been rendered homeless.

The angry waters, which exacted a toll of from 200 to 500 human lives and caused a property loss estimated between $25,000,000 and $40,000,000, were reported to be receding, and the heavy rains have ceased.

Refugees from the sections visited by the floods tell narratives of frightful experiences. The most vivid of these were related by those who escaped death in Peru, where from fifty to 150 perished, and in the suburbs of Indianapolis.

Disease arising from the unsanitary conditions and the experience of the flood victims already threatens to claim a greater toll than the waters. Five of the women rescued and taken to Tomlinson hall are suffering from pneumonia, and cases of the whooping cough and measles were discovered among the refugees. Those suffering from contagious diseases were removed at once.

When the White river broke through the levee, drowning from fourteen to thirty persons, there were many thrilling escapes from death. Harvey Reed, a policeman, who assisted in the rescue of more than a score of persons, declared it as his opinion that the death list in West Indianapolis would be very large and that the estimate of from fourteen to thirty is too small.

"Perhaps there were a half dozen, maybe more, but we were so busy rescuing the living ones that we made no effort to reach the bodies."

From Peru came word that, although high water prevented search of the district which suffered most in Monday's flood, the authorities had found that 100 persons were missing and at least fifty dead.

The flood in Peru is receding three inches an hour. The water has fallen four feet, but the current is so swift it is impossible to investigate in rowboats the district in which may have occurred heavy loss of life.

Disease has already appeared in the form of more than fifty cases of diphtheria, measles and mumps among children of the destitute. The physicians look for scores of cases of typhoid from the drinking of contaminated water before the water plant resumes.

Reading Visited by Cloudbursts.

Reading, Pa., March 28.—A heavy rainstorm, accompanied by sleet and lightning throughout the Schuylkill valley was followed by a two-foot rise in the Schuylkill and a larger body of water is reported coming down from the coal regions. The Schuylkill is six feet above low water mark. It is expected that it will go to ten feet. People living in the lowlands are much alarmed.

SCORE DEAD IN WESTERN PENNA.

Flood Causes Property Loss of Fully $3,000,000.

MANY CITIES ARE INUNDATED

Industrial Plants Are Submerged and Over 50,000 Persons Are Idle—Susquehanna Goes Over Its Banks.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 28.—At least a score of lives are known to have been sacrificed to the flood waters in western and northern Pennsylvania and portions of West Virginia.

More than that number, it is feared, have perished, but communication is seriously handicapped and accurate information is not available.

The property loss, it is believed, will reach $3,000,000. Upwards of 50,000 workers are out of employment temporarily, through the flooding of hundreds of industrial plants.

A stage of thirty-one feet, five feet above that first predicted, was indicated for Pittsburgh in a special warning issued by the weather bureau.

Wire communication with Ohio river points in West Virginia, south of Wheeling, was lost and train schedules west of Pittsburgh were all annulled. There is no telegraph or telephone communication north to Erie, and the washing out of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad severs connection with Cleveland and other points north.

Sharon and Newcastle, in Pennsylvania, and Wheeling, W. Va., face a grave flood situation. The Pennsylvania towns are completely under water, the height at some points being fifteen feet. Wheeling practically is isolated, except for a few shaky telegraph wires.

At Sharon ten persons are known to be dead. This number may grow larger as reports come in. The victims, who are mostly foreigners, were crushed or drowned when their homes were wrecked. In the small towns surrounding Sharon the situation is known to be serious.

Accurate conditions existing at Newcastle, Pa., are unknown. It is reported that the waters from the swollen Shenango river reached one of the many blast furnaces in that city, causing a terrific explosion. The same report intimated that other furnaces might be exploded in the same way.

Serious loss of life from the explosion of the furnaces is improbable, as the workmen previously had all been driven from the various mills by the oncoming water. A family of four persons, however, were drowned at Newcastle when their home was swept away.

Wheeling, W. Va., is confronted with one of the worst flood situations in its history. With the Ohio river rising gradually and a great portion of the city already under water, a stage of forty-eight feet was reached at that city by noon. Many hundreds of families are homeless, and the property loss is large. Six fatalities occurred there.

WYOMING VALLEY FLOODED

Susquehanna River Overflows in Vicinity of Wilkes-Barre.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 28.—The Susquehanna river reached a height of twenty-two feet at the government gauging station, which is the flood stage for the Wyoming valley.

The stream went over its banks and submerged several of the smaller towns nearby. The water rose steadily until it had reached a height of twenty-six feet.

The water went over the lowlands on the west side and Wilkes-Barre was cut off from many of its suburban towns, all traffic being stopped.

The towns of Edwardsville, Kingston, Westmore and West Nanticoke are partly under water. Five hundred families have been driven from their homes and forced to seek safety. The water rose so rapidly that it was necessary to rescue women and children in rowboats. Considerable damage has already been done property, but there has been no loss of life.

In Westmore, Edwardsville and West Nanticoke the water has reached the first floors of the buildings. Families were compelled to depart and leave their furniture to be damaged by water.

Binghamton, N. Y., and points north report the highest waters they have had in years. This condition is expected to cause great suffering.

Miners Flee Before Waters.

Shenandoah, Pa., March 28.—A fall of four inches of rain was reported at noon. At Kehley Run colliery the water main that supplies the boilers was washed away and the colliery was compelled to shut down. The fires were hurriedly drawn, preventing an explosion. All of the collieries are suffering from high water and unless the rain ceases all of the inside workings will be drowned out. At Bast colliery, near Girardville, the water rushed into a mine breach and flooded the workings. It was with difficulty that the miners escaped. It is feared the mines in the mine have been drowned.

Grant and Lee.

In reminiscences of President Grant by Robert M. Douglass, his private secretary, in the Youth's Companion he says:

"One afternoon a tall, handsome man of splendid presence and with a grave, courteous face entered my office and modestly announced himself as Robert E. Lee. When I told the president he directed me to bring the distinguished visitor in at once. Their meeting was cordial, but apparently their recollections brought feelings of sadness to both men. The president, with his usual consideration, presented me to General Lee, who knew my family and who greeted me kindly. I expressed my pleasure at meeting him and then retired from the room. I felt that at such a time no one should intrude. The visit was merely one of courtesy and did not last long. I believe that it was the only time after the war that the two great generals met."

IF YOU ARE A DRINKING MAN

You had better stop at once or you'll lose your job. Every line of business is closing its doors to "drinking" men. It may be your turn next. By the aid of ORRINE thousands of men have been restored to lives of sobriety and industry.

We are so sure that ORRINE will benefit you that we say to you that if after a trial you fail to get any benefit from its use, your money will be refunded.

When you stop "Drinking," think of the money you'll save; besides, sober men are worth more to their employers and get higher wages.

Costs only $1.00 a box. We have an interesting booklet about ORRINE that we are giving away free on request. Call at our store and talk it over.
